The Fujikura 21S mid-range fusion splicer uses active cladding alignment to provide excellent low loss splice results. The splicer's two-camera observation system delivers accurate fiber alignment and loss estimation calculations. With moveable v-grooves, splicing errors caused by dust and other contaminants are eliminated.

The compact Fujikura 21S fusion splicer also features removable sheath clamps and a large 4.7" LCD monitor. The battery provides power for up to 200 splice cycles with application of the splice protection sleeve. The Fujikura 21S is fully compatible with AFL's FuseConnect® fusion spliced field installable connectors. Software updates are available via the Internet.
